

MODULES

Administrator:

As the main person of the website, the admin has full authority to manage the entire contents of the site. Apart from the basic features that all the administrators have (like add/ delete/ view users or information), additional features include:

- a)Mailing system: where personalized mail can be sent when important messages are to be conveyed to the users.
- b)Blocking of unwanted users: admin has the sole authority to block users who have been reported as spam or abuse.
- c)Abuse /spam view: records of users that have been identified as fraud or unreal.
- d)Posting of news or jobs: Admin also can post various news and latest job vacancies in the IT field.
- e)Create a public forum where users can post their queries and updates.

Employees:

These users are the IT professionals working under a particular company.

The various modules for this user are:

- a>Login and registration for respective employees
- b)Update their public profile
- c)Send friend request.
- d)Lookup for new jobs and keep updated on latest IT news.
- e)Post on public forums created by the admin.

Freelancer:

Freelancer is a person doing work under their own desire and satisfaction.

Nowadays people hire a huge amount of freelancers to get the work done.

Some of the modules included for this user are:

- a)Login and registration
- b)Updating their profile
- c)Check for freelancing jobs
- d)Sending friend request
- e)Posting queries and answering questions on the public forums.
- f)Searching related problems and finding solutions

Guest User:

A guest user doesn't have complete access to the functions of the website. Mainly the modules included are:

- a)Search for solution to IT related queries.
- b)View latest IT related news.